

LUKAS PETERSSON

Student and Software developer

PROFILE

I'm Lukas, a self-taught software developer currently studying M.Sc. Engineering Physics at Lund University. Driven by curiosity, I constantly seek new things to learn like philosophy, math, politics, or programming. I've more than one year of experience as a full-time developer, but many more as a hobbyist.

If a picture can say more than a thousand words, a website can say more than a thousand resumés. With that I want to say that you should check out my website for a more complete picture of me. Visit:
